Behavior Assessment is a standard practice of rescues and shelters to evaluate the personality and behavior of the dogs in the program. The purpose of the test is to gain an understanding of the dog's character. The test is performed a minimum of 3 to 5 days after the dog's arrival as some dogs may be stressed when they first arrive and testing during this time may not be an accurate assessment. Although all efforts are made with the end goal of making the best possible placement for both the dog and owner, it is impossible to guarantee the personality and behavior of any dog. The behavior assessment is not an express or implied warranty or guarantee of any kind of the dog's personality and behavior. We strongly advise that you monitor your dog closely and use caution/discretion as to with whom and under what circumstances interactions are allowed with your dog until you have fully acclimated the dog to its new surroundings and have formed your own observation and assessments of the dog's personality and behavior after acclimation to its new placement.

☐	Occasional accident in kennel, not a serious issue
☐	Frequent accidents, will likely need remedial house training post adoption

Comments: Submissive pee when first greeting

NOTES:

Cleo is a pretty little girl. Love her markings.

Kinda hard to figure out.

At first greeting she was super scared, backed into a corner and growled at me. After talking with her in a happy voice, she slowly approached me but was submissive and smiled at me and peed a few drops. If I reach for her collar she would back off and give little nips from fear.

When she finally came out of her kennel, she turned into a different dog.

Then she gets playful, loves toys, loves food.

Fun. Loves to play, has great obedience skills.

Likes to get attention, loves butt scratches.

And yet, still not fond of big hugs or touching her feet and collar.

Gets this spastic energy and runs around, plays keep away.

Can get mouthy.

When she settles down and gets-to-know and trust someone, she'll be a great companion.
